The Michigan Crisis Response Association (MCRA) Annual Conference offers high quality training in critical incident stress management and related topics. The conference is especially valuable for: first responders and their families, mental health professionals, clergy, chaplains, educators, and medical practitioners and administrators.

CLASSES BEGINNING 9/14/2025

Assisting Individuals in Crisis & Group Crisis Intervention (GRIN)

3 Day Course: 9/14-16/2025

- Susan Elben, ICISF Approved Instructor, MCRA Board Member

Many consider this foundational course to be essential in understanding and responding to stress and trauma

Course Description: This 3-day course combines ALL of the content of ICISF's Assisting Individuals in Crisis & Group Crisis Intervention courses.

Crisis Intervention is NOT psychotherapy; rather, it is a specialized acute emergency mental health intervention which requires specialized training. As physical first aid is to surgery, crisis intervention is to psychotherapy. Thus, crisis intervention is sometimes called "emotional first aid." Designed to present the core elements of a comprehensive, systematic and multi-component crisis intervention curriculum, this course will prepare participants to understand a wide range of crisis intervention services for both the individual and for groups. Fundamentals of Critical Incident Stress Management (CISM) will be outlined and participants will leave with the knowledge and tools to provide several group crisis interventions, specifically demobilizations, defusings and the Critical Incident Stress Debriefing (CISD). The need for appropriate follow-up services and referrals, when necessary, will also be discussed.

The Simulated Debriefing scheduled for Monday night is a mandatory component of this course. Your attendance is vital to demonstrate understanding and engagement with the course materials.

This course is designed for anyone in the fields of Business & Industry Crisis Intervention, Disaster Response, Education, Emergency Services, Employee Assistance, Healthcare, Homeland Security, Mental Health, Military, Spiritual Care, and Traumatic Stress. Qualifies of 27 Contact Hours.

Learning Objectives:

- Psychological crisis and psychological crisis intervention
- Resistance, resiliency, recovery continuum
- Critical incident stress management
- Evidence-based practice
- Basic crisis communication techniques
- Common psychological and behavioral crisis reactions
- Putative and empirically derived mechanisms
- SAFER-Revised model
- Suicide intervention
- Relevant research findings and ethical considerations
- Large group crisis interventions
- Small group crisis interventions
- Adverse outcome associated with crisis intervention
- Critical Incident Stress Debriefing (CISD)

Class Held ONLY on 9/14/2025

Understanding the First Responder's Cultures: For Mental Health Staff One Day Class: 9/14/2025

- Dennis Potter, Approved ICISF Instructor, MCRA Board Member

Course Description:

All Mental Health professionals know that we need to understand the cultural setting of our clients to provide the most effective interventions. This is also true for working with First Responder's. For the purposes of this training, First Responder's are identified as those individuals who work as: Dispatchers, Law Enforcement Officers, Correctional Officers, Firefighters, and Emergency Medical personnel.

There are some issues/stressors that cut across all of these professions, but also some that are more unique to the specific group. This course identifies the cultures of each profession and their unique stressors. The various CISM courses teach a variety of group approaches to crisis intervention, but what about the follow-up if an individual comes to us for assistance not related to a Critical Incident? First Responder's can have a variety of life issues including marital problems, family issues, depression, substance abuse struggles, PTSD, etc. We need to understand the unique stress of their professions and how those might impact their non-professional lives in order to offer the most effective help.

This class will provide information about first responders' cultures and opportunities for discussion regarding adapting our clinical approach to meet the needs of first responder's. Qualifies for 7 Contact Hours.

Learning Objectives:

- First Responder cultures
- Unique stressors in the First Responder world
- The "functional dysfunctionalities" that work for First Responder's on the job
- The "resistance, resilience, recovery" continuum
- Intervention skills and resources that are relevant to First Responder's

This course may be available for continuing education credits, contact conference coordinator for information.

Class Held ONLY on 9/14/2025

De-escalation Skills for the Front Line:

A Practical Approach

One Day Class: 9/14/2025

In times of crisis and adversity leadership is essential.

- David Edwards, Approved ICISF Instructor, MCRA Board Member

Course Description:

This program trains participants in effective De-escalation skills from a variety of perspectives. Lessons learned about assessing, intervening, and monitoring the effectiveness of de-escalation will be reviewed. Participants will learn recent developments in the psychology of extreme escalation. We will also focus on the mental preparation skills that can lead to effective intervention under stress. Skill based scenario training will be used to increase participants confidence in their ability to effectively intervene with those in extreme crisis. The program is designed for those who serve on the front line including public safety, first responders, health care providers, mental health professionals, crisis workers, and social service professionals. Qualifies for 7 Contact Hours.

Learning Objectives:

- The demand for effective De-escalation skills
- Introduction and overview of the crisis escalation process
- Recognizing early warning signs of escalation
- Safety concerns : Recognizing signs of impending violence
- Mental Preparation to intervene effectively
- Verbal De-escalation Techniques – Listening and Responding
- Assessing key themes driving the escalation
- Problem solving under stress
- Trauma-Informed De-escalation
- States of mind and De-escalation: What we know about changing states

This course may be available for continuing education credits, contact conference coordinator for information.

Presents:

Peer Support: Bringing Your Team To The Next Level

- Mike Wierenga, Owner, 2 The Rescue, LLC

Rationale For Presentation:

Your Peer Support Team is up and running. That's great! Now the real work starts. Training and communication for your teams, leaders and support partners is critical to achieving growth and to the overall success of the support team. You're going to need buy in from many different groups, which should include family members, city and township management, command staff, Union leadership, EAP and, perhaps most importantly, your peers.

Whether you are just launching a team, or you've been operating for a while, this course will help and encourage you. Peer Support Teams is designed as an open discussion format. Two the Rescue will lead the dialogue on a range of developmental topics, encouraging course participants to raise specific questions on what is and isn't working in sustaining their peer support team.

Cognitive Objectives:

- History of First Responder Peer Support
- Ongoing needs and support
- Continuing educational training
- Education for the leadership
- How to educate the new recruits
- Problem Recognition
- Policy, Procedures & SOP's
- State Laws – privacy of peer to peer conversations
- What is a CISM Debriefing vs. Defusing?

Class Held ONLY on 9/14/2025

Coordinator's Round Table

Time: 8:00 am – 12:00 pm

This seminar is an opportunity to meet with leaders of other teams in Michigan to explore issues that you face as a coordinator and talk with others about how you can manage them. We will generate ideas about successes, and areas for improvement as we try to provide the best possible CISM responses.

At the end of the seminar, we expect to have some expanded knowledge of issues and concerns that have come up during a team's existence, or if you are starting a team, some suggestions from others who have had a similar experience.

Facilitator will be Tim Turnwald, EMT/FF, Lenawee CISM Team

CISM Refresher Course

Time: 1:00 pm – 5:00 pm

For many people there's a need to "brush up" on or review CISM components and procedures because as we all know, "if you don't use it, you'll lose it." MCRA suggests that a best practice is for CISM team members should be to get "refreshed" at least every five years to keep the concepts and ideas fresh in your mind. This course will include a quick review of both the Group and Individual Crisis Response models including CMBs, Defusings, and CISDs. The afternoon portion of the class will offer mock events to "practice" doing CISM events. ICISF's "Group Crisis Intervention and/or Assisting Individuals in Crisis" should be viewed as a prerequisite.

Stress Management for the Trauma Service Provider

Two Day Class: 9/15-16/2025

- Dennis Potter, ICISF Approved Instructor, Emeritus MCRA Board Member

Course Description:

This important course is for all who work with traumatized people. Explore the “Stress Continuum,” the levels of stress including eustress (i.e., beneficial, motivating stress), traumatic stress, burnout, countertransference, compassion fatigue or secondary PTSD, and vicarious traumatization which may occur as a result of helping others. A discussion of coping strategies for those who work with traumatized children will also be offered. Individual self-report exercises and an experiential group support session will assist the participating trauma provider in assessing their own level of stress through sharing personal experiences with others. Stress management self-care techniques will be presented, experienced and discussed. This course is appropriate for all mental health professionals, emergency services personnel, and peer counselors. Qualifies for 14 Contact Hours.

Course Objectives:

- The “Stress continuum”
- Signs and symptoms of excessive stress
- Stress as related to work as a “trauma provider”
- A variety of stress management techniques
- Stress management in relation to “context”
- Vicarious traumatization, compassion fatigue and burnout
- Stress “resilience”
- Achieve resilience and effective self-care
- Motivating factors for the work we do
- Working with trauma survivors

CLASS BEGINS 9/15/2025

Strategic Response to Crisis

Two Day Class: 9/15-16/2025

- Jay Martin, ICISF Approved Instructor, MCRA Board Member

Course Description:

Knowing what sequence of crisis intervention processes to use for which individuals or groups, at what times, and under what circumstances is crucial to all effective early intervention programs. The course will present essential information for the assessment of both crisis situations and the effects of critical incidents on people involved in those situations. Learn to create an effective plan of action to assist those in crisis and complete a series of exercises designed to sharpen assessment and crisis planning skills. Strategic planning and tactical decision making are emphasized, as are rationales for choosing one set of crisis intervention processes over another.

This course builds confidence that crisis interventionists will make the right choices of interventions for the populations they are assisting under specific circumstances. This course requires previous training and experience. ICISF's "Group Crisis Intervention" and "Assisting Individuals in Crisis" (formerly Individual Crisis Intervention and Peer Support) should be viewed as prerequisites. Qualifies for 14 Contact Hours.

Course Highlights:

- Strategic planning as it applies to crisis intervention
- National Incident Management System and crisis intervention
- Elements of Effective Planning
- Steps in Developing the Plan
- Planning process in assessing target populations
- Determining the type, timing and resources necessary
- Assisting large numbers of people involved in a crisis
- The most important crisis intervention tactics
- Managing a complicated or large scale crisis event

CLASS BEGINS 9/15/2025

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

Steve Lohman, Retired Firefighter
Sunday, September 14, 2025

We are proud to feature Steve Lohman as our keynote speaker - a respected leader whose legacy spans more than three decades of service, mentorship, and support in the fire and emergency response community. After an impressive 31-year career with the Grand Rapids Fire Department, Steve served in pivotal roles as a Firefighter, Company Officer, and Training Supervisor.

Steve is equally distinguished in the field of Critical Incident Stress Management (CISM). Steve has spent nearly 30 years advancing mental wellness among first responders and was the CISM coordinator for the Grand Rapids Fire Department's CISM Team for 20 years, providing compassionate leadership and innovative support strategies in the face of trauma and crisis.

Steve's impact extends far beyond his department; he is also a past Board Member of the Michigan Critical Response Association (MCRA) and played a vital role in expanding peer support networks. Attendees can look forward to an inspiring and insightful address drawn from Steve's deep well of experience and unwavering dedication.
